TETON COUNTY, WYOMING

Teton County, has a long history and a more recent reputation. It is quickly becoming one of the most sought after places to live in the country. An extraordinary quality of life, access to the outdoors, and unique accessibility, Teton County draws some of the countries highest net worth individuals.

Designated by the US Department of the Interior and the UN as a “World Heritage Site,” Jackson Hole works to protect its natural resources and abundant wildlife. Less than 3% of the land in Teton County is privately owned. The remaining 97% is under government management and protection, leaving an abundance of space for both humans and wildlife to roam. This ensures that our stunning scenic corridors and wildlife migration patterns will remain protected.

Jackson Hole is the Gateway to Grand Teton and Yellowstone National Parks

Yellowstone, the first established national park, is only 57 miles from Jackson Hole with a portion of the park in Teton County. Within Yellowstone’s 2.2 million acres, visitors have unparalleled opportunities to observe wildlife in an intact ecosystem, explore geothermal areas that contain about half the world’s active geysers, and view geologic wonders like the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone River.

The Teton Range, towering over our region stands as a monument to the people who fought to protect it. This led to the creation of Grand Teton National Park where you can explore over two hundred miles of trails, float the Snake River, and enjoy the serenity of this remarkable place.
