SCHERERVILLE, IN | CHICAGO, IL MSA

2024 POPULATION:
9,600,000

SCHERERVILLE, IN

Schererville is a town in Lake County in the far northwest corner of Indiana. Schererville was founded in 1830 and became incorporated as a town in 1911. The town still exudes small-town charm and was named as one of the “100 Best Places to Live in the U.S.” by Money Magazine in 2007. Schererville is an affluent suburb of Chicago, being situated only 36 miles from the downtown area. Many residents enjoy the laid-back atmosphere of the area and commute to other nearby cities or Chicago. The cost of living in Schererville is more affordable than the Chicago and nearby Illinois areas, with Indiana’s overall tax structure and housing costs contributing to that advantage.

ECONOMY IN SCHERERVILLE, IN

Schererville benefits from strong road connectivity (major routes in and out of town, with easy access to I-65, the I-80 and I-94 corridors, and U.S. highways in the region), which supports retail, services, and distribution. The local economy benefits from a mix of consumer spending, service industries, and logistics and distribution activity due to the highway access.

Retail and services are strong in Schererville itself, with many residents working in nearby shopping centers and commercial corridors. Hospitals, clinics, and schools are also significant employers in the broader region. More recently, the region has been shifting away from heavy industrial roots to more diversified, service- and logistics-focused jobs. The population of the area has been growing at a moderate pace, signaling the coming need for additional housing, more retail and restaurant establishments, and service industries.

CHICAGO, IL MSA

The Chicago, Illinois metro is one of the largest metros in the nation. The Chicagoland area is bounded to the east by Lake Michigan, expands over a 5,000-square-mile region in northeastern Illinois and extends into Wisconsin and Indiana. the metro houses 9.6 million people and comprises 14 counties. The city of Chicago contains 2.7 million residents. During the past 20 years, the greatest growth occurred in the western portion of the region and was exemplified between 2020 – 2021. Since then, movement back into downtown Chicago is gaining headway as employers increasingly pushed for in-person work attendance, while progressing tourism levels support activity in the urban core.

METRO HIGHLIGHTS

The region's transit network ranks among the largest and most efficient across the country, with the Chicago L spanning over 100 miles across the metro.

The vast network of freeways, centralized location, a large rail-truck intermodal facility and the Port of Chicago contribute to the metro's position as a major distribution and logistics hub.

Chicago is the nation's top freight rail hub, with major carriers BNSF, Union Pacific, CSX and Norfolk Southern servicing the region.

Amtrak routes originate from Union Station, while the "L" serves the city of Chicago. The Metra commuter rail provides passenger service in the suburbs.

International airports include O'Hare, Midway and Gary/Chicago. Sixteen smaller airports also provide air service for the region.

CHICAGO, IL MSA

ECONOMY

The metro has one of the biggest economies in the nation, and is buoyed by its distribution, finance, manufacturing operations, and growing high-technology sectors.

Fortune 500 companies headquartered in the metro include Walgreens, State Farm Insurance, and McDonald's.

Large tech firms operating in the metro, such as Amazon and Google, attract a wide array of startup companies.

The area is a major global tourist and convention destination. Typically, more than 50 million people visit the metro annually and support nearly 500,000 jobs in the leisure and hospitality sector.

Backed by some of the nation's more well-regarded universities, the workforce is considered one of the most diverse and well-trained among major United States metros.

DEMOGRAPHICS

More than 40% of Illinois residents live in the suburbs of Chicago, many of whom commute into the city for work.

More than 40% of residents ages 25 and older hold a bachelor's degree, and of these, roughly 15% have also earned a graduate or professional degree, which is well above the national level.

Younger professionals moving to the market for employment are helping the city and its suburbs grow and contributing to the local economies of the entire metro.
