TENANT PROFILE

Depot Connect International

Depot Connect International is a global provider of intermodal tank container services, specializing in storage, maintenance, cleaning, and logistics support for bulk liquid transportation. Headquartered in Charlotte, North Carolina, the company operates a network of service depots and tank container facilities across North America, Europe, and Asia, supporting chemical producers, industrial manufacturers, and logistics providers.

DCI's operating model centers on the inspection, repair, cleaning, and storage of ISO tank containers used in the transportation of hazardous and non-hazardous bulk liquids. The company's facilities are typically equipped with specialized infrastructure, including wash bays, maintenance areas, and secured yard storage, designed to meet industry and regulatory compliance standards. These operations support customers involved in chemical distribution, food-grade transport, and other industrial supply chains.

Depot Connect International locations are generally situated in industrial corridors, port-adjacent areas, or major transportation hubs with access to rail and highway infrastructure. Site selection is influenced by proximity to petrochemical markets, distribution networks, and import/export activity. The operational nature of the business requires large yard areas, heavy-duty utility capacity, and environmental compliance systems.

From a commercial real estate perspective, DCI is considered an industrial-use tenant with specialized site requirements and long-term operational commitments. Properties typically feature significant outdoor storage capacity and functional improvements tailored to tank servicing activities. Lease structures often reflect the capital-intensive nature of the buildout and operational infrastructure.

Operationally, DCI benefits from recurring demand tied to global trade flows and industrial production cycles. As bulk liquid transport remains an essential component of supply chains, the company's services support ongoing maintenance and regulatory compliance requirements within the tank container industry.

One of the largest independent intermodal tank container service providers in North America
Operates a network of 50+ terminal and depot locations across the U.S. and Canada
Strategically located near major ports, rail hubs, and industrial corridors
