SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA

San Diego is a major city in California, United States. It is in San Diego County, on the coast of the Pacific Ocean in Southern California, approximately 120 miles south of Los Angeles and immediately adjacent to the border with Mexico. The City of San Diego is the 2nd largest city in California with a population of 1,389,760 as of July 1, 2024.

The largest sectors of the San Diego's economy are defense/military, tourism, international trade, and research/manufacturing, respectively. San Diego's commercial port and its location on the United States-Mexico border make international trade an important factor in the city's economy. The city is authorized by the United States government to operate as a Foreign Trade Zone. San Diego has been called "the birthplace of California". It is known for its mild year-round climate, natural deep-water harbor, extensive beaches, long association with the United States Navy, and recent emergence as a healthcare and biotechnology development center. The city is the seat of San Diego County and is the economic center of the region as well as the San Diego-Tijuana metropolitan area. The presence of the University of California, San Diego (UCSD), with the affiliated UCSD Medical Center, has helped make the area a center of research in biotechnology.

Tourism is a major industry owing to the city's climate, beaches, and tourist attractions such as Balboa Park, Belmont amusement park, San Diego Zoo, San Diego Zoo Safari Park, and SeaWorld San Diego. San Diego's Spanish and Mexican heritage is reflected in many historic sites across the city, such as Mission San Diego de Alcalá and Old Town San Diego State Historic Park.

San Diego's top universities include public institutions like UC San Diego (UCSD) and San Diego State University (SDSU), and private schools such as the University of San Diego (USD) and Point Loma Nazarene University (PLNU). The city is also home to the UCSD School of Medicine, its leading medical school.

The city has two major commercial airports within or near its city limits. Downtown San Diego International Airport, also known as Lindbergh Field, is the busiest single-runway airport in the United States.

EL CAJON, CALIFORNIA

El Cajon is a suburban city located in San Diego County, eastern California, approximately 15 miles east of downtown San Diego. Known as “The Box” due to its valley setting surrounded by hills, El Cajon offers a diverse community, established neighborhoods, and convenient access to the greater San Diego metropolitan area. Its location along major highways makes it a key residential and commercial hub in East County. The City of El Cajon had a population of 104,659 as of July 1, 2025

El Cajon’s economy is supported by retail, healthcare, manufacturing, education, construction, and professional services. Commercial activity is concentrated along major corridors such as Main Street, Broadway, and Magnolia Avenue, featuring shopping centers, restaurants, and service businesses. The city also has light industrial and manufacturing sectors. Many residents commute to San Diego for employment in defense, technology, tourism, and healthcare industries, benefiting from the region’s strong economic base.

El Cajon offers a variety of recreational and cultural amenities. Downtown El Cajon features dining, shopping, and community events such as farmers markets and seasonal festivals. The Water Conservation Garden and local parks provide green spaces and educational exhibits. Nearby mountains, hiking trails, and regional parks offer outdoor recreation, while the city’s proximity to San Diego provides access to beaches, museums, and major entertainment attractions.

El Cajon is served by several school districts, including the Cajon Valley Union School District, Grossmont Union High School District, and parts of La Mesa-Spring Valley School District, offering a range of public education options. Higher education opportunities are available nearby through Grossmont College, Cuyamaca College, and universities throughout the San Diego region. The nearest major airport is San Diego International Airport.
