Design of the Workplace Ecosystem

Welcome to 1075 Terra Bella, a groundbreaking office space in Mountain View, California, where innovative business design reaches new heights by harmonizing nature with modern functionality.

Our vision was to craft a nature-inspired workspaces that balance biophilic elements with exceptional flexibility and performance. Recognizing the increasing desire for workplaces that reconnect people with the natural world, we've developed a fresh, vibrant palette to office design—one that's ready to flourish.

The core objective was to create architecture that elevates the employee experience through functional, adaptable environments that inspire social connection, creativity, and innovation. This single-tenant headquarters empowers employers to tailor a complete workplace ecosystem that reflects their unique culture and values.

Designed from the employee's perspective, the space incorporates diverse, nature-infused areas that support collaboration and well-being while seamlessly blending natural elements into the architecture. The dramatic lobby boasts a soaring 30-foot ceiling, programming for a 25x25-foot living wall, a floating staircase, and abundant natural light from above via skylight—creating an immediate sense of calm and vitality.

A single-tenant headquarters and brand identity, 1075 Terra Bella offers unmatched customization potential. Its flexible floor plates, high ceilings, all-glass exteriors, and multiple outdoor spaces allow companies to imprint their brand deeply into the environment.

For forward-thinking organizations that recognize the powerful advantages of biophilic design, this is more than just an office—it's an opportunity to create a living, breathing workplace that attracts and retains top talent, fosters team innovation, drives productivity, and enhances overall employee health and happiness.

Discover the future of work at 1075 Terra Bella—where business, nature, and ambition grow together.

2-Story Lobby with Skylight and Floating Staircase

Garden Path Concept

The Garden Path Concept concentrates the ideas of wayfinding a path from the lobby where a light-filled and programmed nature-inspired living wall concept rises from a central floating staircase. The Garden Path continues through the interior landscape; it evolves vertically to the second level as it sweeps through each workplace, culminating at the second-floor outdoor terraces.
