Lonsdale Club

4 Lonsdale Road, London, NW6 6RD

At a glance

Tucked into the heart of Queen's Park, Lonsdale Club is a small but perfectly formed neighbourhood workspace.

Behind its painted frontage are private studios, dedicated desks, hotdesking and meeting space, with exposed brickwork, wooden floors and vaulted ceilings.

Prime location

Set on Lonsdale Road, surrounded by independent cafés, restaurants and creative businesses, Lonsdale Club is a 5-minute walk from Queen's Park and Brondesbury Park stations, with Queen's Park itself just 10 minutes away on foot.

Spaces at Lonsdale Club

However you like to work, there's a space for you at Lonsdale Club.

Choose from private studios for teams of two to five, dedicated single desks for a more permanent base, flexible hotdesking when you need somewhere productive to land, and meeting rooms available to book by the hour.

The building's intimate scale creates a calm, friendly atmosphere, with an onsite Community Manager to keep the working day running smoothly.

Whether you're here every day, dropping in between meetings or bringing the team together, Lonsdale Club makes it easy to find a setup that suits your working week perfectly.

Added extras

Small enough to know your neighbours, Lonsdale Club has a genuine sense of community.

Our dedicated Community Manager keeps the club ticking and the calendar lively, with regular events bringing everyone together.

Catch up over coffee in the communal kitchen, or head onto Lonsdale Road for lunch, drinks or exploring.

Availability

Whether you need a home for your team, a desk of your own or simply somewhere to work for the day, Lonsdale Club has a range of flexible options available.

Our four private studios accommodate teams of two to five, while dedicated desks offer a regular base without the commitment of a private office.

Hotdesking is there for more occasional working days, and meeting rooms can be booked by the hour whenever you need to bring people together.

Availability can change, so speak to our team to find out what's currently open, arrange a visit and find your fit.
