Pride of ownership, new construction restaurant pad situated within one of the highest-performing retail centers in northern Nevada, serving affluent Reno and Lake Tahoe communities. Shayden Summit's curated mix of national brands and restaurants creates a destination shopping experience with consistent traffic.

Legacy Real Estate in Reno's #1 Shopping Center

The subject property is located within Shayden Summit, widely regarded as the premier lifestyle shopping destination in the Reno MSA and the dominant retail destination for southern Reno. The center attracts shoppers from across northern Nevada and the Lake Tahoe region, drawing visitors from affluent communities where comparable retail options are limited. Anchored by national retailers such as Apple, Trader Joe's, Dillard's, Williams Sonoma, Pottery Barn, Lululemon, Sephora, and ULTA, the center consistently ranks among the highest-performing retail environments in the region.

Final Developable Pad in Institutional Center

The property occupies one of only a few separately owned retail pads within an otherwise institutionally owned shopping center. Previous ownership retained a small number of pad sites while the rest of the center remains under unified ownership, making opportunities within the project extremely limited. Monarch sold the adjacent Chipotle pad at a 4.81% cap rate in 2024, highlighting strong investor demand for real estate within the center.

Dual-Tenancy with Strong Daily Demand

The building is leased to Mountain Mike's Pizza and The Breakfast Club, two restaurant concepts that naturally complement one another throughout the day. The Breakfast Club drives strong breakfast and lunch traffic, while Mountain Mike's captures afternoon and evening dining demand, creating efficient parking and visitation patterns. This combination aligns well with the center's steady stream of shoppers, employees, and nearby residents.

Located at Major Regional Intersection

Shayden Summit sits near the major intersection of Interstate 580 and Mt. Rose Highway, a primary corridor connecting Reno, Carson City, and Lake Tahoe. Strong regional accessibility is supported by lighted intersections, traffic circles, and well-designed internal circulation throughout the center. South Virginia Street serves as the primary retail spine for southern Reno, providing excellent exposure and convenient access.

Affluent Demographics & Regional Growth

Southern Reno continues to experience significant population and economic growth driven by migration and Nevada's favorable tax environment. The surrounding area features high household incomes and strong home values, with many nearby residences approaching or exceeding $1 million. Nearby employment growth—including distribution facilities, industrial development, and expansion tied to the Tahoe Reno Industrial Center—continues to support spending power in the trade area.

Institutional Asset in High-Spend Retail Location

Shayden Summit has maintained strong leasing momentum and tenant performance, recently adding Trader Joe's to an already powerful lineup of national retailers. The center draws visitors from long distances due to its mix of high-end brands, restaurants, entertainment, and specialty retailers. Common areas are professionally managed by the shopping center owner, allowing the pad sites to operate within a well-maintained and highly trafficked retail environment.
