LABOR MARKET

Labor Market Advantage

Plum Creek Industrial Center offers superior labor market fundamentals compared to other regional alternatives in the Austin metro. With a warehouse worker labor pool of nearly 55,000 people and a net surplus of 5,000 workers, the site delivers the workforce depth and availability that distribution, fulfillment, and advanced manufacturing operations require.

The 25-minute drive time catchment area features a 90% working age participation rate, a 3.1% unemployment rate, and more than 30,000 underemployed blue-collar workers actively seeking full-time opportunities. A robust pipeline of 36,000 part-time college students adds additional flexibility for shift-based staffing. Competitive wage rates further enhance the location's appeal for cost-conscious operators.
