Location

Located at the prominent corner of 190 Street and 32 Avenue, the site is well positioned to support efficient, growth-oriented industrial operations. Immediate access to key regional routes, including Highway 15, Highway 10, and 200th Street allows businesses to move goods quickly across Metro Vancouver and beyond, supporting reliable and cost-effective logistics. The surrounding area also benefits from a strong labour catchment and convenient access to retail and service amenities along the Langley Bypass and in nearby South Surrey.

Campbell Heights has evolved into one of Metro Vancouver's most dynamic industrial districts, driven by sustained demand and significant investment. Over the past decade, the area has attracted a roster of national and international occupiers, including Loblaws, Amazon, Bothwell Accurate, and Walmart. With its proximity to the US border and direct connectivity to the regional highway network, Campbell Heights continues to stand out as a leading destination for new industrial development and long-term business growth.
