

A TYSONS ICON. A NEW ERA.

8000 TOWERS CRESCENT DRIVE

SOME BUILDINGS GET NOTICED. TOWERS CRESCENT GETS REMEMBERED.

An Iconic Address in Tysons

For decades, Towers Crescent has defined the Tysons skyline, instantly recognizable and impossible to mistake.

Designed in 1986 by Philip Johnson and John Burgee—two of the most influential architects of the 20th century—Towers Crescent was conceived as a landmark.

The only large-scale commercial work by the partnership in the Washington, D.C. region, it remains a rare architectural presence in the market.

Along the Capital Beltway, it has become a point of reference. Always recognized. Already remembered.

Today, it offers the scale, flexibility, and presence modern companies require.

This is not a building trying to become iconic. It was designed to be one.

At the Center of Tysons

Positioned at one of the most connected and visible locations in Northern Virginia, Towers Crescent sits at the intersection of access, proximity, and recognition.

Directly connected to Tysons Corner Center and walkable to the Silver Line, the building is embedded within one of the region's most established retail and dining destinations—offering immediate access to over 2 million square feet of retail and 40+ dining options.

Access is intuitive and efficient. Approached from multiple directions with traffic flow in mind, the building allows for seamless entry and exit—minimizing friction and maximizing convenience for daily arrival and departure.

Everything within reach. Effortless to access.
