GENERAL PLAN

The current General Plan designation for the property is Low Density Residential (LDR), permitting up to 8.0 dwelling units per acre.

However, the City's proposed General Plan update, which is anticipated to be adopted in mid-2026, redesignates the property as Medium Density Residential (MDR), permitting residential densities of up to 25 dwelling units per acre.

DEVELOPMENT STANDARDS

Current zoning permits a minimum lot area of 2,500 square feet per dwelling unit, generally equating to approximately 17 dwelling units per acre, subject to site planning and development standards.

Building height is generally limited to 35 feet.

In addition, the City's proposed zoning framework for the subject contemplates residential densities ranging from approximately 8.1 to 25 dwelling units per acre.

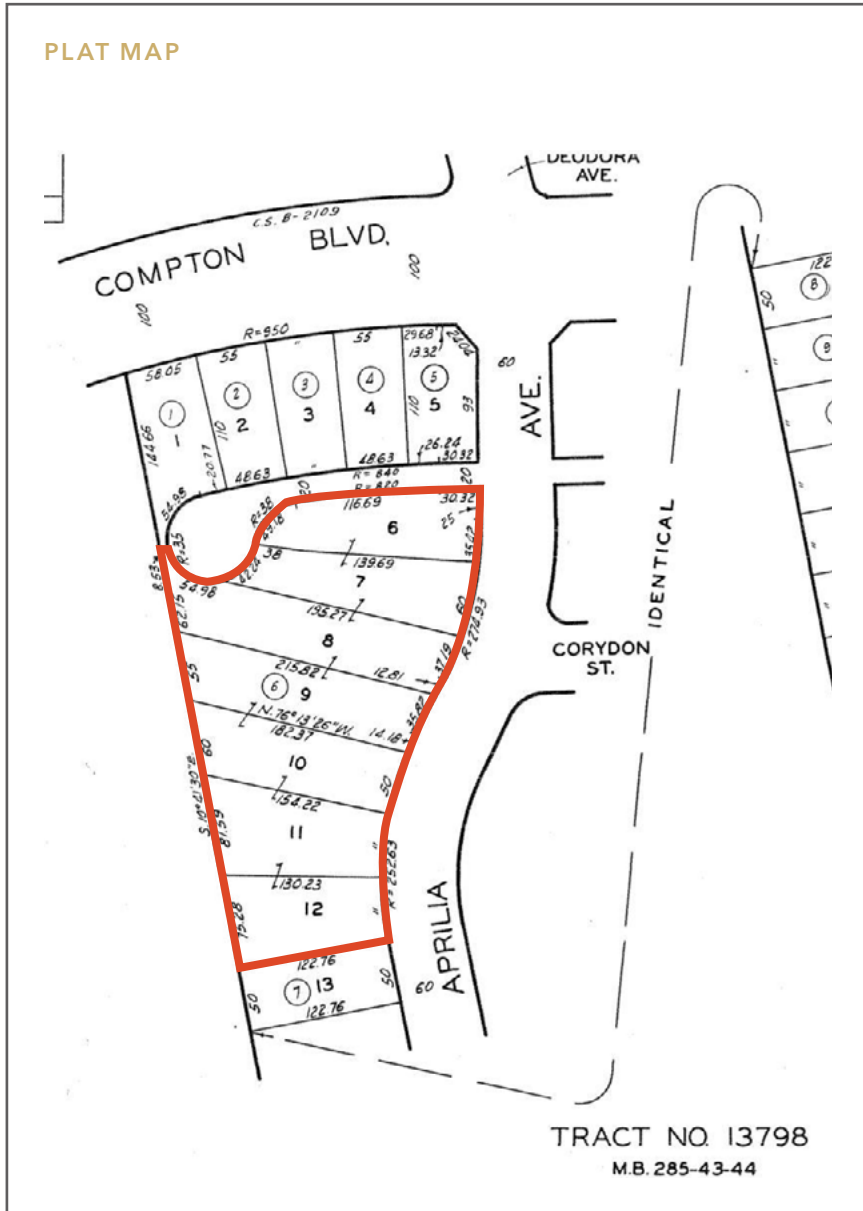

Further investigation will be required to determine the feasibility of residential redevelopment, senior housing, group living facilities, mixed-use development, or other higher-density residential uses, all of which may require discretionary entitlement approvals.
