Location

Found in Cuckfield, West Sussex, just to the west of Haywards Heath. The town offers easy access to the A272 and the A23. The premises is only 2.2 miles from the mainline Haywards Heath railway station which offers direct routes to London, Gatwick and Brighton.

Description

The premises comprise a characterful building (currently occupied by a picture framers and is available due to relocation), it is of timber-framed construction with corrugated metal cladding and features a number of attractive period elements, including arched windows, exposed timber framing and a quaint entrance porch. The property also benefits from fluorescent strip lighting and central heating.

Internally, the accommodation is arranged to provide a reception/showroom area at the front with a workshop to the rear along with a mezzanine floor. We understand that this layout could be reconfigured to suit an in-going tenant if required. The reception area features wooden flooring, panelled walls and fluorescent strip lighting.

The workshop is an open plan space. To the rear left-hand side there is a kitchenette and WC, together with a side ramp access leading to the external area. The mezzanine is accessed via an internal staircase and is currently used as an office area.

Four parking spaces are provided next to the unit, but unrestricted parking is also available on the roadside.
