A Timeless Legacy in Toronto's Financial District

Ensuing its iconic namesake, the Thomson Building in downtown Toronto's financial core is a testament to Toronto's past and present. Located at the southwest corner of Queen St W and Bay St, the Thomson Building stands on the former site of what is regarded as one of the city's first skyscrapers, the Temple Building, which opened in 1895. Rebuilt in 1970 and officially named after the influential Thomson family, its storied past as a cornerstone of the city's financial and commercial hub makes it a prestigious address steeped in history and poised for the future.

Offering unencumbered views on three sides, the Thomson Building provides spectacular panoramas of Toronto's most celebrated landmarks and attractions, underscoring its central standing right in the heart of the city. Situated directly across from City Hall and Nathan Phillips Square, and flanked by the Toronto Eaton Centre, the Sheraton Centre Hotel, and Old City Hall, the Thomson Building has witnessed Toronto's exponential growth while evolving alongside it since its completion in 1972.

As one of the 75 buildings connected to Toronto's downtown underground pedestrian walkway, the PATH, it is right on the pulse of the city. Seize the opportunities of a centralized location with high foot traffic in a building that is a testament to enduring success at 65 Queen Street West.

Kipling Realty Inc. is pleased to present retail opportunities for lease in the PATH under the Thomson Building. Located at the southwest corner of Queen St W and Bay St, in the heart of Toronto's financial district, the Thomson Building (65 Queen St W) is situated directly across from City Hall and Nathan Phillips Square.
