FRANKLIN, CT

Industrial scale strategic access.

An exceptional 87-acre industrial land offering in Franklin, CT with extensive Route 32 frontage, public utilities, and flexible zoning, ideal for large-scale, phased development in a supply-constrained market.

● 135 ROUTE 32
FRANKLIN, CT

Premier industrial site with unmatched visibility.

135 Route 32 in Franklin is a large-scale 87-acre industrial land holding with nearly a third of a mile of frontage along Route 32, giving it a presence and visibility that is difficult to replicate in southeastern Connecticut. The property combines scale, infrastructure access, and flexible industrial zoning in a market where large contiguous industrial parcels with public utilities are increasingly limited.

A unique blend of scale, infrastructure, & development flexibility.

Extensive frontage and exposure along CT Route 32

Industrial zoning with broad permitted commercial and industrial uses

Large acreage supporting phased development, campus layouts, or subdivision

Natural landscape offering privacy without sacrificing accessibility

Varied topography enabling flexible and efficient site design

Flexible zoning, maximum potential.

With approximately 1,500 feet of frontage and minimum frontage requirements of only 150 feet, the parcel may also present long-term subdivision or multi-building development potential, subject to approvals and environmental review.

From a development perspective, the Industrial zoning allows for a wide range of uses including:

TOPOGRAPHY

WOODLAND SETTING WITH NATURAL BUFFER

The property represents a rare large-scale, undeveloped industrial tract with existing infrastructure access and significant development flexibility. It can accommodate a single flagship user or a phased commercial or industrial development, all within a natural New England setting that offers a more attractive alternative to a typical industrial park.
