Prisma Health Swamp Rabbit Trail New Green Line Extension

The Prisma Health Swamp Rabbit Trail is a 28-mile (and growing) multi-use walking and bicycling greenway that traverses along the Reedy River, an old railroad corridor and City parks to connect Travelers Rest with the City of Greenville, South Carolina.

The Swamp Rabbit Trail Green Line Extension recently opened along the north side of Laurens Road for cyclists, pedestrians, and runners to hit the trail. The trail now extends to Verdae Blvd making it 17 continuous miles. The City of Greenville and Greenville County worked together to complete the additional 4 miles that runs from Cleveland Park to CU-ICAR.

What's new? The Paperclip - Named based on its design shape, the section of switchbacks that runs between Cleveland Park and Laurens Road is now open.

Pedestrian Bridges - The new Laurens Road Pedestrian Bridge (near Willy Taco) + Haywood Road Pedestrian Bridge (near Goodwill) are open, along with a newly-outfitted railway overpass allowing for a crossing over Woodruff Road.

Coming soon there will be three spurs or paths connecting three neighborhoods — Nicholtown, Gower, and Verdae — to the extension. The construction of a Legacy Park trail connector and a bridge between Legacy Park and the Green Line extension is in the permitting phase, with a completion goal of this winter.
