Property Overview

Borelli Investment Company is pleased to present 168 S 11th Street, a ±15,190 SF residence hall on an 18,560 SF lot, the largest on its block, located one block east of the San Jose State University campus. For many years the building served as the Kappa Sigma fraternity house at San Jose State, and it offers 27 private bedrooms supported by common areas that include a commercial kitchen, a residential kitchen, a large community room, numerous restrooms (several with multiple showers), an interior courtyard, and a basement.

Originally constructed in 1961, the building underwent a major remodel in 2012-2013 that took the first floor down to the studs and fully rebuilt the second story, along with a new roof, HVAC, plumbing, and electrical, among other improvements. With the major building systems already addressed, a buyer can direct capital toward interior finishes and room upgrades rather than base-building work.

With San Jose State enrollment at a record high and more than 80% of students living off campus, the property is well suited to by-the-bed student housing, university or institutional use, or continued group-residential operation. The improvements also lend themselves to alternative uses such as senior living or affordable and supportive housing.
