MADE IN WEST OAKLAND

HISTORY OF WEST OAKLAND

In 1869, West Oakland became the terminus of the transcontinental railroad, and the population grew as railroad workers settled in the neighborhood.

In the 1880s and 1890s, a large number of shops and small and medium-sized houses were built to accommodate the large number of immigrants who settled in West Oakland.

The writer Jack London lived in West Oakland in the late 19th century, and his novel The Valley of the Moon is set in West Oakland. Many of the houses built in that period are still standing today and make up the quaint character of the neighborhood.

Oakland's baseball team, the Oakland Oaks, played at the Oakland Baseball grounds West Oakland in 1879.

In 1906, many people left homeless by the 1906 San Francisco earthquake settled in West Oakland.

World War I brought new job opportunities in the shipyards and with it an influx of workers and business growth. By 1930, West Oakland was a thriving, predominately African-American neighborhood of about 2,800 residents. Seventh Street was lined with jazz and blues clubs. Marcus Garvey's Universal Negro Improvement Association had its West Coast headquarters at 8th and Chester Streets.

West Oakland became the center of the Black Panthers in the late 1960s. Their main office was on Peralta Street, and they distributed free breakfasts to children in St. Augustine's church on West Street. DeFremery Park was the site of Black Panther rallies and social programs.
