HISTORY OF CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH

Founded in 1846 by formerly enslaved and free African American Christians, Central Baptist Church has served for more than 180 years as a pillar of faith, education, and civic leadership in St. Louis. In the 1850s, members connected to Dred and Harriet Scott worshiped here during their historic legal fight for freedom, linking the church to one of the nation's most consequential pre-Civil War civil rights cases.

This legacy of faith paired with social action continued through the Civil Rights Movement, including Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s first sermon in St. Louis in 1961, delivered at Central Baptist. Across generations, the church has endured relocation, fire, and profound social change, remaining steadfast in its commitment to service, justice, and community.
