Location Description

Harrodsburg is located in the heart of the Bluegrass Region, Kentucky's oldest town offers an appealing mix of history, architecture and culture. Mercer County is nestled among breathtaking palisades and gently rolling countryside laden with historic stone fences and manicured horse farms. Harrodsburg is experiencing significant economic growth driven by major manufacturing expansions and high-tech investments as of early 2026. A transformative $2.5 billion investment by Apple in the local Corning glass plant is elevating the town's role in global technology, supported by new logistics and industrial site developments designed to attract further industry. Harrodsburg is conveniently located 36 miles southwest of Lexington and 73 miles southeast of Louisville.

Bluegrass Innovation Gateway - Central Kentucky's Premier Megasite

Bluegrass Innovation Gateway (BIG) is a 958± acre, contiguous megasite in Mercer County, Kentucky, purpose-built for large-scale industrial, advanced manufacturing, and logistics development. With gently rolling to flat topography, BIG delivers the scale, infrastructure, and connectivity today's site selectors demand—paired with the workforce advantages of the thriving Lexington and Louisville Metro regions.

Strategically located with immediate access to US 127 and the Bluegrass Parkway, the site offers exceptional multimodal capabilities, including 1.5+ miles of Class I Norfolk Southern rail frontage and access to significant water, wastewater, and high-voltage power capacity. Zoned I-2 and supported by local public IDA ownership, BIG is a rare, future-ready opportunity for transformative economic development.

Located just over 30 minutes from Blue Grass Airport and Lexington, and within easy reach of the region's universities, training programs, and talent base, BIG combines modern infrastructure with a high quality of life. Nearby access to green energy and direct power generation connections further positions the site as an ideal destination for forward-thinking industries.

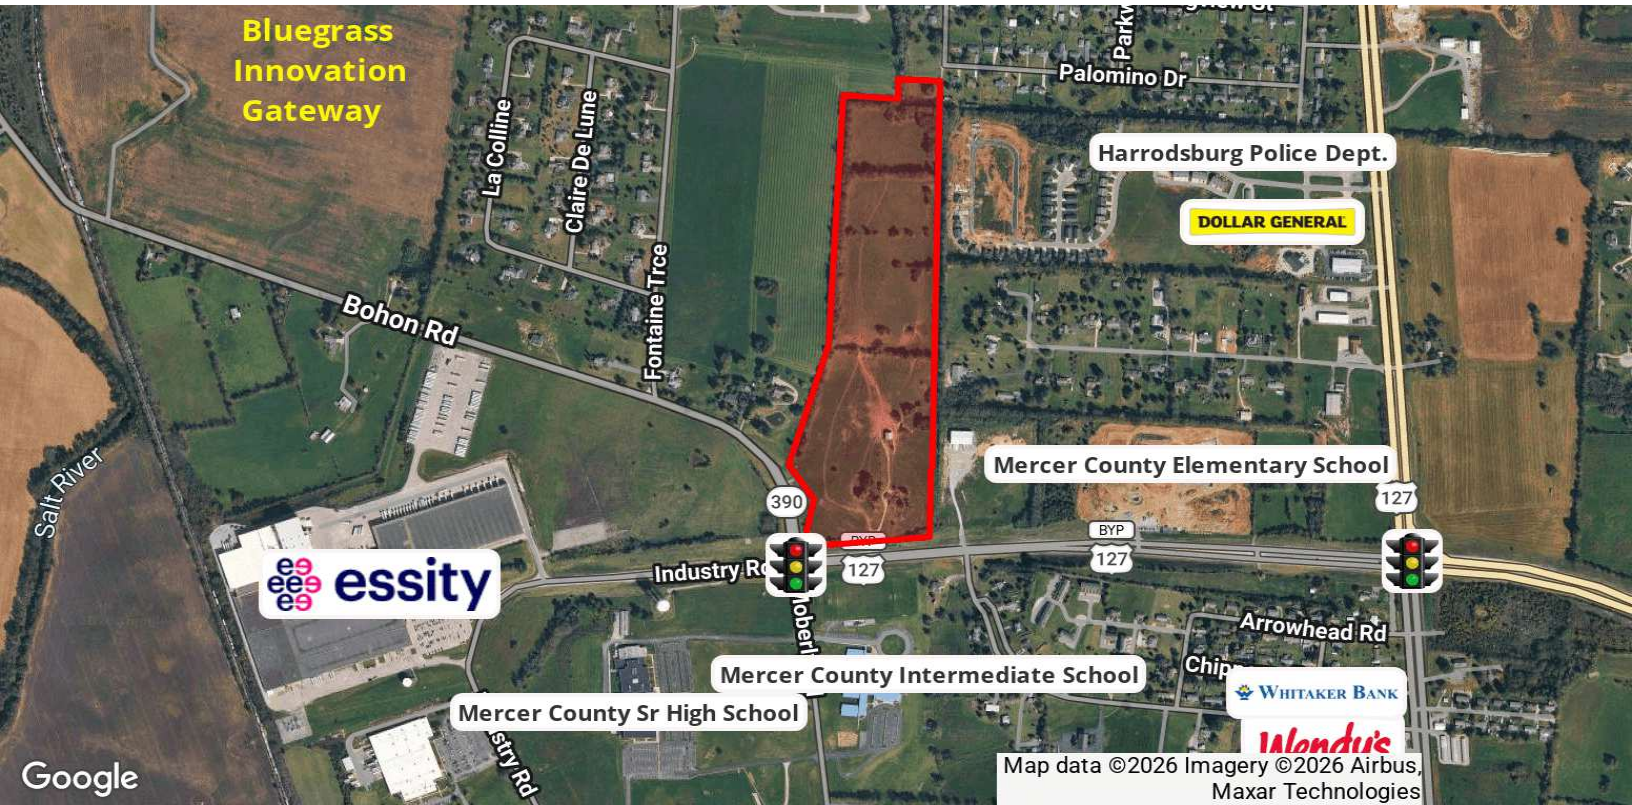

With due diligence complete and master planning underway, Bluegrass Innovation Gateway is ready to support your next expansion, relocation, or flagship facility in one of Kentucky's fastest-growing growth corridors.
