Company Profile

Dollar General Corporation is an American chain of variety stores headquartered in Goodlettsville, Tennessee. As of January 2020, Dollar General operates 16,278 stores in the continental United States.

Company History

J.L. Turner and Son: 1939–1964

Dollar General has its origin in Scottsville, Kentucky, with James Luther “J.L.” Turner and his son Cal Turner. James Turner’s father died in an accident in 1902 when James was only 11. James had to quit school and never completed his education so he could work the family farm and help provide for his mother and siblings. After two unsuccessful attempts at retailing, James became a traveling dry goods salesman for a Nashville wholesale grocer. James left the sales job after 10 years and settled his family in Scottsville, Kentucky.

In October 1939, James and Cal opened J.L. Turner and Son with an initial investment of $5,000 each. The switch to retailing resulted in annual sales above $2 million by the early 1950s. By the mid-1950s Turner had 35 department stores in Kentucky and Tennessee. In 1955, Cal Turner developed his idea of a retail store selling goods for a dollar.

The company Cal Turner co-founded went public as Dollar General Corporation in 1968, posting annual sales of more than $40 million and net income in excess of $1.5 million. In 1977, Cal Turner, Jr., who joined the company in 1965 as the third generation Turner, succeeded his father as president of Dollar General.

2003–present

Dollar General entered the grocery market with the establishment of Dollar General Market in 2003. In 2004 Dollar General expanded to low-cost Asian markets by opening a sourcing office in Hong Kong.

On June 21, 2007, CEO David Perdue announced his resignation leaving David Bere as interim CEO. One month later all shares of Dollar General stock were acquired by private equity investors for $22 per share.

Dollar General filed on August 20, 2009, for an initial public offering of up to $750 Million turning the company once again into a publicly traded corporation. In 2013 Dollar General started selling cigarettes in response to its competitor Family Dollar selling cigarettes in 2012. Dollar General’s 12th distribution center opened on May 31, 2014, in Bethel, Pennsylvania, to serve the northeast and midwest stores.

On June 3, 2015, Chief Operating Officer Todd Vasos replaced Rick Dreiling as chief executive. Dreiling remained as senior advisor and chairman until his retirement in January 2016. Dollar General's 13th distribution center opened in San Antonio, Texas, on June 6, 2016, with a local investment of $100 million and the creation of over 500 jobs. In September 2015, the Janesville City Council, in Wisconsin, approved an agreement to bring a Dollar General distribution center to the town. The center created more than 500 jobs in the area and became the 14th Dollar General distribution center. Dollar General distribution center in 2018.

In January 2017, Dollar General opened a concept store in Nashville called DGX. The DGX store concept focuses on urban shoppers and is geared toward instant consumption items such as a coffee station and a soda fountain. The following month another DGX store opened in Raleigh, North Carolina, and in September a third DGX opened in Philadelphia.

In September 2019, Dollar General celebrated the grand opening of its 16,000th store in Panama City, Florida, following damage sustained from Hurricane Michael in October 2018.

On December 5, 2019, Dollar General announced FY 2020 plans that include the opening of 1,000 new stores, remodeling of 1,500 mature stores and relocation of 80 stores. In February 2020, Dollar General announced plans to create 8,000 net new career opportunities in fiscal year 2020. Dollar General expanded to 46 states in 2020 with the addition of new stores in Wyoming, in March and Washington in April.

Operations

Dollar General has more than 16,368 stores in 46 states, and approximately 143,000 employees. Dollar General also has 17 distribution centers in 16 states. Since 2017, DG has opened stores in North Dakota, Montana and Washington. As of early 2020, DG does not have stores in four states: Alaska, Hawaii, Idaho and Montana.

Community - GIVING BACK

1. Indigenous Roots (Before 1800)

The area that is now Wichita was originally home to Native American tribes, particularly the Wichita people, a Plains tribe known for farming, hunting buffalo, and building grass-covered dome houses called wickiups.

The city's name comes from these people, who lived along the Arkansas River for centuries before European settlers arrived.

Other tribes later moved through or lived in the region, including the Osage, Kiowa, and Comanche, especially as European expansion disrupted traditional territories.

2. Early Exploration & Trading Posts (1800–1860s)

European-American exploration increased in the early 19th century.

Key developments included:

- 1863: Trader Jesse Chisholm established a trading post in the area.
- The nearby Chisholm Trail became a major cattle-driving route from Texas to Kansas railheads.
- The settlement grew as a stop for traders, ranchers, and travelers moving through the plains.

3. The Cowtown Era (1870s)

Wichita exploded in growth during the cattle boom of the 1870s.

Major factors:

- 1872: The railroad reached Wichita.
- Texas cattle were driven north along the Chisholm Trail to be sold and shipped east.
- Wichita became a famous "cowtown."

This era brought:

- Saloons, gambling halls, and stockyards
- Cowboys, cattle barons, and merchants
- Rapid population growth

Figures like lawman Wyatt Earp worked briefly in Wichita during this period.

4. Agricultural and Industrial Growth (1880–1920)

After the cattle boom faded, Wichita reinvented itself as:

- A regional agricultural hub
- A center for wheat production and grain trade

Railroads and farming wealth helped the city grow steadily. Wichita was often called the “Wheat Capital of the World.”

5. Birth of the Aviation Industry (1920s–1940s)

Wichita became one of the most important aviation centers in the world.

Major aviation pioneers started companies here:

- Beechcraft
- Boeing
- Cessna
- Learjet

Because of this concentration of aircraft production, Wichita became known as the “Air Capital of the World.”

During World War II, Wichita factories produced thousands of military aircraft, including the B-29 Superfortress bombers.

6. Civil Rights & Social Change (1950s–1960s)

Wichita played a role in early civil rights activism.

- 1958: One of the first successful lunch counter sit-ins in the U.S. occurred in Wichita.
- Activists protested segregation at a Dockum Drug Store.

These protests helped inspire the broader civil rights movement that later spread across the country.

7. Modern Wichita

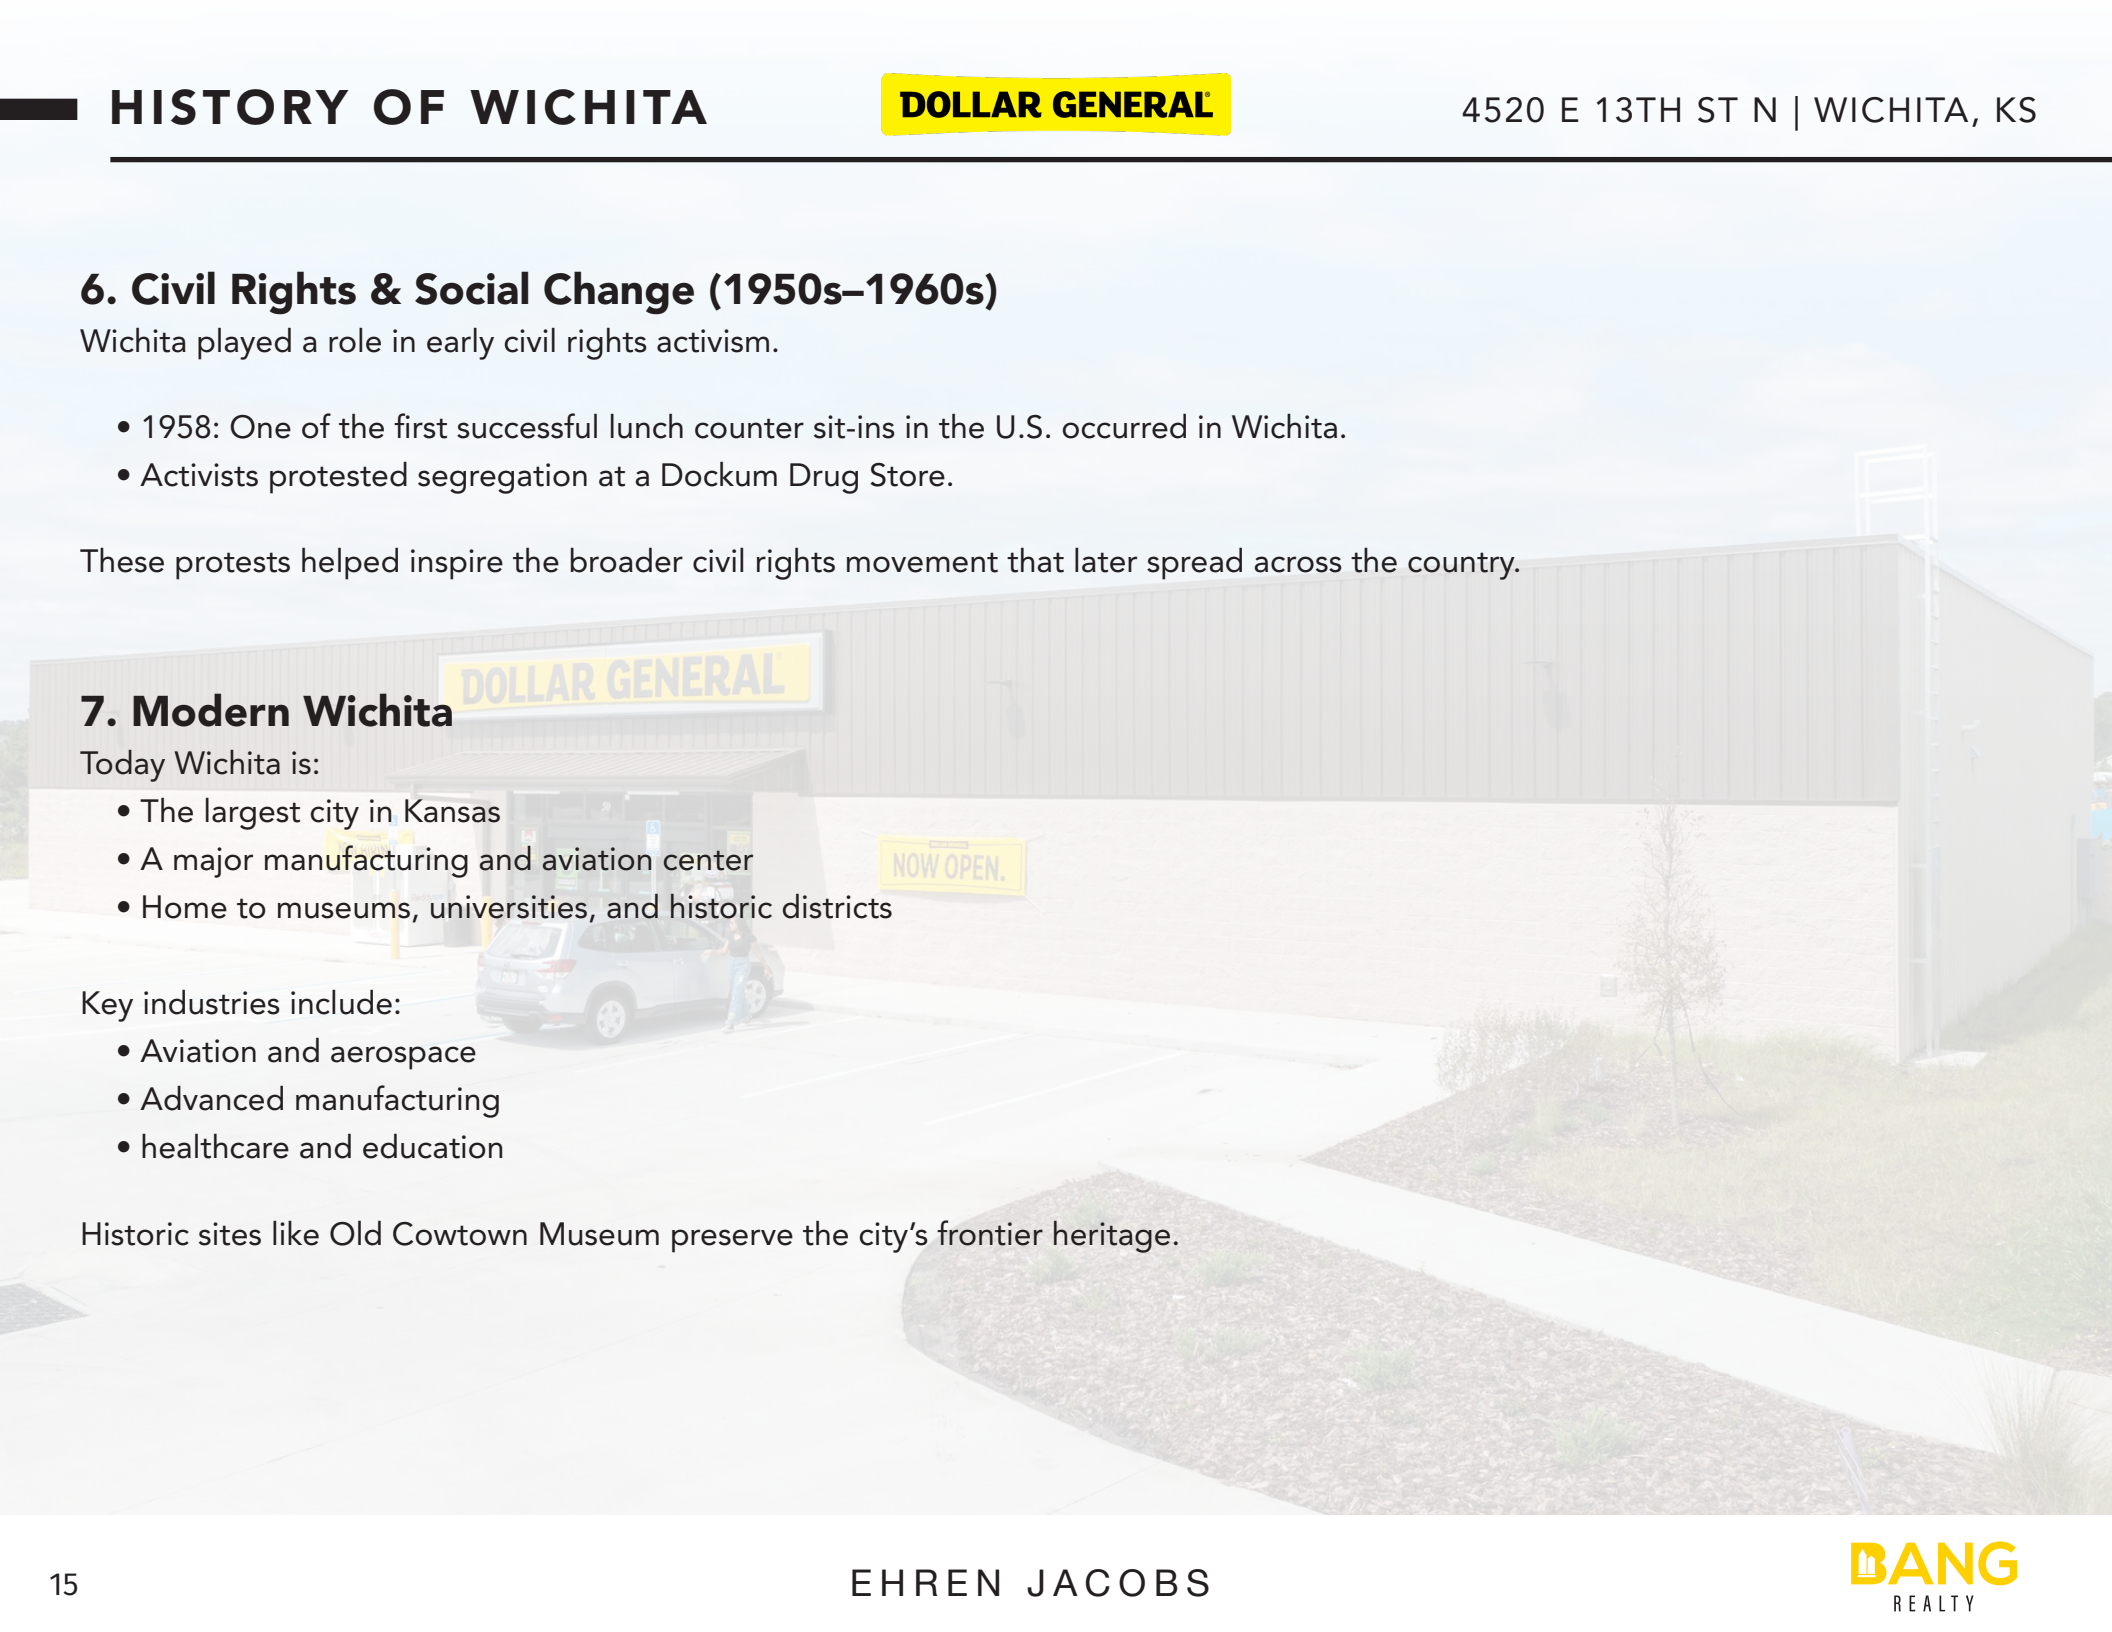

Today Wichita is:

- The largest city in Kansas
- A major manufacturing and aviation center
- Home to museums, universities, and historic districts

Key industries include:

- Aviation and aerospace
- Advanced manufacturing
- healthcare and education

Historic sites like Old Cowtown Museum preserve the city's frontier heritage.
