About Koelbel and Company

Koelbel and Company has shaped places to work, play and live for more than seven decades. As Colorado's oldest family-owned and operated real estate firm, we continue to mold the landscape with developments that blend ageless values and pacesetting design.

You'll find our work in downtown settings, office parks, custom home communities, urban environments and resort destinations throughout the region and beyond. This broad experience means we're exceptionally adept at assuring the functionality, aesthetics and livability of every project. Our workforce-friendly amenities often include on-site eateries, gyms, rooftop terraces, creative corners for contemplation, as well as communal kitchens and shared spaces for rubbing elbows with other professionals. By customizing finishes and floor plans, we can accommodate companies of one to hundreds.

With an eye to the future, Koelbel is constantly adding new technologies and innovations to improve the way we build. The result is a better workplace – one where you and your company will thrive.
