MARKET OVERVIEW

Office vacancy rates in Denton remain tight at 7.5%, and ranks as one of the lowest vacancy rates in Dallas-Fort Worth. New supply has been sporadic over the last decade, and only a handful of smaller projects are in the pipeline. There are no buildings under construction and builders added 21,000 SF over the past 12 months. Annual rent growth is positive at 1.7% compared to the market average of 1.6%.

With relatively tight vacancies, the availability rate is also holding stable with 8.0% of inventory on the market; that share is well below the Dallas-Fort Worth average of 19.0%. This is due in part to the lack of new development as Denton has not emerged as a major office node in Dallas-Fort Worth.

As the home of the University of North Texas and Texas Woman's University, Denton is often overlooked as a traditional office market. Denton is home to Sally Beauty Supply, Peterbilt, and Jostens. The two universities and the rapidly growing distribution and manufacturing sectors significantly impact local employment. Denton is poised for solid growth in the long term as the path of progress in Dallas-Fort Worth continues to move north. Denton County has grown 50% since 2010, and the submarket is poised to benefit from demographic tailwinds bolstering demand for space.
