PROPERTY HIGHLIGHTS

Discover an exceptional opportunity just outside the city limits in a fast-growing market. This package includes over 24 acres, featuring 19+ acres in the back with in-and-out easement access ideal for future development. Additionally, there are two front lots, each approximately $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{3}$ acre, ready for immediate development — adding even more income potential to an already cash-producing property.

The land tract has been fully surveyed and is ready for residential, commercial, or mixed-use projects. Its strategic location near schools, shopping, and dining offers convenience while maintaining the flexibility of no city restrictions.

The 12-home portfolio at 3227 Country Road 2004, Corsicana, TX, features homes renovated in 2024, each with 3 bedrooms, 1 bathroom, and approximately 1,200 sq. ft. on quarter-acre lots.

Market Overview

Corsicana, Texas is a regional hub located in Navarro County, strategically positioned along Interstate 45 between Dallas and Houston. Its central location provides strong regional connectivity to two of Texas's largest metropolitan areas, making it an attractive location for businesses seeking access to major markets while benefiting from lower operating costs and a business-friendly environment.

The Corsicana area has experienced steady growth supported by a stable local economy and continued development activity. Residential expansion and population stability have contributed to consistent demand for retail, healthcare, and service-oriented commercial uses. Its location along a major interstate corridor also supports industrial and logistics activity, with increasing interest from distribution and manufacturing users seeking efficient access to regional supply chains.

From a real estate perspective, Corsicana offers attractive opportunities supported by affordable land pricing, strategic location, and steady demand across multiple property types. Limited competition in certain commercial segments and continued interest from industrial and logistics users position the market for long-term growth. As development continues along the I-45 corridor, Corsicana remains well-positioned for stable investment performance and future value appreciation within a key North Texas-to-Houston trade route.
