Use a timer and SAVE

Plugging in your vehicle doesn't have to drive up your electric bill

A well-maintained vehicle needs only two to four hours of heating time to start. By using a timer and programming it to come on two to four hours before you need to leave home, you could save up to $45 a month on your electric bill. Plug-in timers can be purchased locally for about $20 each (hard-wired timers are about $50 each) and only take a few minutes to program.

For more ways to save on your electric bill, visit www.gvea.com/energy-saving-tips.

Energy-saving plug-in options:

Timer: Programmable to turn the electricity to your vehicle on and off at the times you choose. (This can be a hard-wired or manual variety.)

Switched Outlet: Wired to your head bolt outlet, it's a switch inside your home that allows you to control the electricity to your vehicle without going outside.

OUTAGES HAPPEN! BE PREPARED WHEN THEY DO.

Severe storms (wind and snow) and vehicle accidents are typical causes of power outages in the Interior of Alaska.

Lengthy outages can lead to serious problems, such as frozen pipes, spoiled food and even danger to family pets, and livestock. Without heat, a house will freeze in just seven hours at -40°F.

Standby electric power from generators can keep your essential electric equipment operational during prolonged outages.

GVEA has prepared a book to help determine the appropriate generator to meet your needs.

Download from our website at: gvea.com/generator-booklet.

LET'S GET

PREPARED

Because we live in an extreme climate, it's a good idea to keep an emergency outage kit on hand.

- Water - 1 gallon/person/day
- First aid kit, freshly stocked
- Nonperishable food
- Flashlights and extra batteries
- Portable cell phone chargers
- Battery-powered radio with access to National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration weather alerts
- Copies of important documents (identification, insurance policies, etc.)
- Emergency contact information
- Cash
- Multipurpose tool
- Blankets and sleeping bags
- Food and water for pets
- Change of clothing
- Books, board games, puzzles, etc.

1. Prepare: Do you have an outage kit? The list to the right is an example of what you should have on hand to stay safe during an outage.
2. Be informed: When your power goes out, our outage map is instantly updated with the location of the outage, the number of members who are affected and when crews are assigned to respond. The map can be found at outage.gvea.com. It's your quickest and best resource to stay informed during an outage.
3. Connect: Do we have your current contact information? You can update your information directly through your MyGVEA account or submit a form at www.gvea.com/account-maintenance-form. Don't have a MyGVEA account yet? Register today! Visit www.gvea.com/MyGVEA to set up your account.
4. Power down: Turn off and unplug sensitive equipment, such as televisions and gaming consoles. Equipment with motors, such as refrigerators and furnaces should also be turned off. Once the power has been restored and has stabilized, you may safely turn on power to these items.

OUTAGES HAPPEN! BE PREPARED WHEN THEY DO.

Severe storms (wind and snow) and vehicle accidents are typical causes of power outages in the Interior of Alaska.

Lengthy outages can lead to serious problems, such as frozen pipes, spoiled food and even danger to family pets, and livestock. Without heat, a house will freeze in just seven hours at -40°F.

Standby electric power from generators can keep your essential electric equipment operational during prolonged outages.

GVEA has prepared a book to help determine the appropriate generator to meet your needs.

Download from our website at: gvea.com/generator-booklet.

What is the F&PP charge?

FUEL

Projected amount and cost of fuel.

GENERATION

Projected amount of power each unit will generate.

PURCHASED POWER

Projected amount of power GVEA will purchase from local and southcentral utilities.

This rate is updated quarterly and is a combination of two factors:

- the cost GVEA projects it will incur during the upcoming quarter in generating and purchasing the power necessary to meet the electrical needs of its members; and
- a true-up of what it actually cost GVEA to generate and purchase power during the prior three months.

If the actual cost during the previous quarter exceeds or is less than what GVEA had projected, the difference is carried forward and recovered in the next quarter resulting in either an increase or a decrease to the projected F&PP rate.

How is it calculated?

LOOK FORWARD 3 MONTHS

Fuel, Generation, Purchased Power Projections

LOOK BACK 3 MONTHS

Difference Between Projections and Actuals

= Actual Cost (no mark-up)

Unexpected events, such as changing fuel prices, unscheduled outages on any of GVEA's generation units, or changes in the availability of purchased power affect the accuracy of GVEA's projections.

GVEA is required by its governing body, the Regulatory Commission of Alaska, to update its F&PP rate every quarter.

For more information on what impacted this quarter's F&PP increase, payment plans and financial assistance, visit www.gvea.com. For additional questions or information, please reach out to GVEA at (907) 452-1151.

Together we make a big difference!

Each month, many GVEA members voluntarily round up their electric bill to the next highest dollar. On average, a member will donate $6 per year. By pooling our small change together, we do far more than we could do alone.

The cents that members contribute is greatly appreciated and really makes a difference within the communities that GVEA serves. Since the program began in 2011, GVEA members have funded grants totaling $1,637,290.44.

Four times a year, the volunteer Goodcents Board of Trustees meets to review applications from nonprofits in the GVEA service area. Learn more at: www.gvea.com/community/goodcents-program.
