EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

STORY OF THE DEAL

Newmark Mountain West is pleased to present, for the first time since its development, The Terrace at Traverse Mountain — a Class A, institutional-quality retail center in the heart of Lehi, the commercial core of Utah’s Silicon Slopes. Anchored by Harmons — the Wasatch Front’s premier locally owned grocer and one of the top-performing stores in the state — and junior-anchored by Marshalls, the center pairs daily-needs durability with the demographic and employment tailwinds of one of the nation’s most dynamic growth markets.

The offering captures a deep, food-and-service-driven tenant base. Marshalls, JPMorgan Chase, H&R Block, Café Rio and Zao lease on corporate paper, alongside AT&T, T-Mobile and Verizon storefronts and a best-in-class regional restaurant lineup — R&R BBQ, Taqueria 27, The Original Pancake House, Jersey Mike’s, Tsunami, Beans & Brews, Capriotti’s and Houston Hot Chicken. The draw is measurable: the center generates more than 2.1 million visits a year, with Harmons alone accounting for over 1.08 million — up 11% year over year.

Built beginning in 2016 and 100% leased, the center’s original ten-year leases are now reaching their first renewals. Roughly 79% of the owned square footage sits under a renewal option struck a decade ago, and those option rents were set well below what space in northern Utah County commands today. The result is a continuing opportunity to significantly grow income as options burn off over the next hold period.

The Terrace at Traverse Mountain is a rare opportunity to own core, daily-needs retail in Utah’s premier growth corridor — an asset class with very few willing sellers — at stabilized in-place cash flow with embedded, contractually approaching upside.

INVESTMENT HIGHLIGHTS

GROCERY-ANCHORED BY TOP-PERFORMING HARMONS

Harmons is the Wasatch Front's premier locally owned grocer, and the Lehi store ranks fourth on sales among the chain's Utah locations. It is built into the center rather than sitting beside it, drawing daily traffic through the shops. The offering captures the income that draw supports, without the low-yielding grocery box that generates it.

The Harmons Fuel Center is included on a ground lease with roughly 13 years remaining, four five-year options and 10% increases every five years. Harmons built the station and pays the taxes, insurance and maintenance — grocer-backed income that asks almost nothing of the owner.

DIVERSIFIED, DAILY-NEEDS TENANT MIX

A roster weighted toward food, personal services and daily-needs retail — categories that require an in-person visit and drive repeat trips. Corporate covenants from Marshalls, JPMorgan Chase, H&R Block, Café Rio and Zao sit alongside a deep bench of high-performing regional operators.

EMBEDDED MARK-TO-MARKET UPSIDE

The center's original ten-year leases are reaching their first renewals. Roughly 79% of the owned square footage sits under a renewal option set a decade ago, priced below where northern Utah County leases today. With new retail in the submarket well into the mid-$40s per square foot NNN, the runway to grow income is contractual and already approaching.

SITE CONTROL AND BREAK-UP OPTIONALITY

The offering conveys approximately 24.91 acres and all ~1,218 parking stalls across three tax parcels, while Harmons occupies its own separately owned pad. Two of the three — the Harmons Fuel Center and the Pet Supplies Plus building — are already separately titled and could be sold individually with no re-plat. Because net-leased pads price inside a 127,000-square-foot center, a selective parcel sale could unlock cap-rate arbitrage above the going-in basis.

A DEMAND ENGINE, NOT JUST AN ADDRESS

The trade area is powered by Silicon Slopes — 1,000+ technology companies and a young, highly educated workforce concentrated in and around Lehi, with roughly 40% of Utah's job growth since 2010 occurring in this corridor. Households within three miles earn a median of $145,640, some 45% above the Utah County median, and nearly a quarter earn over $200,000. Provo–Orem–Lehi is the fifth-fastest-growing metropolitan area in the nation.

A RARE, FIRST-TIME OFFERING OF CORE RETAIL

Offered for the first time since its development, The Terrace is the kind of asset that rarely trades. Institutional-quality daily-needs retail in Lehi almost never comes to market, and existing grocery-anchored centers carry little to no vacancy. New product is coming — but at today's land basis and construction costs it has to underwrite to rents well above what this center collects. The competition arrives priced above the in-place basis, not below it.

TENANT PROFILES

HARMONS

1.08 million visits a year — roughly half of everything the center draws.

Harmons has belonged to the same Utah family since 1932 and has stayed deliberately small: twenty-two stores, all in-state, with chefs, dietitians and cooking schools inside them rather than another hundred locations outside. The Lehi store ranks fourth on sales among the chain's Utah locations and sits in the 85th percentile nationally. The box itself is not part of this offering. The traffic it generates is.

±68,140 SF · Family-owned since 1932 · 22 stores, all Utah · ~$850M revenue · ~4,000 employees

MARSHALLS

Seventeen percent of the center in one store, with TJX behind it.

Marshalls is one of two flagship banners in TJX's Marmaxx division, which drives roughly 60% of TJX sales across more than 5,200 stores in ten countries. Marmaxx grew 7% last fiscal year on 5% comparable sales. At The Terrace it holds 22,000 square feet — the largest single footprint in the center — anchoring the western end and pulling cross-shopping through the shops between it and the grocery.

22,000 SF · The TJX Companies (NYSE: TJX) · 1,255 Marshalls stores in the U.S. · 5,200+ TJX stores in 10 countries

JPMORGAN CHASE

Chase signed a twenty-year term here. They do that where they intend to stay a generation.

Chase is the consumer arm of the largest bank in the United States by assets, and it built at The Terrace on a twenty-year original term rather than the ten or fifteen a branch usually takes. It occupies a freestanding pad on the corner — the most readily separable asset in the center, and the kind that draws a different, credit and term focused buyer pool than the shop space behind it.

2,999 SF · JPMorgan Chase & Co. (NYSE: JPM) · Largest U.S. bank by assets

CAFÉ RIO MEXICAN GRILL

A single St. George restaurant in 1997. The country's top-ranked quick-serve Mexican brand today.

Café Rio has grown from that first store to roughly 150 locations across a dozen states and has been ranked the number one quick-serve Mexican brand nationally three years running. Its newer digital-format restaurants run average unit volumes about 20% above the traditional box. The company runs its restaurants itself rather than franchising them, which keeps execution consistent from one location to the next.

3,497 SF · Founded 1997, St. George, Utah · ~150 locations across 12 states · Headquartered in Salt Lake City

JERSEY MIKE'S SUBS

Newly listed on the New York Stock Exchange — and the fastest-growing store at the center.

Jersey Mike's is the second-largest sub chain in America behind Subway, and two thousand of its 3,300 restaurants opened in the last decade. Blackstone took a majority stake in late 2024 at an $8 billion valuation, and the company went public in 2026 in one of the largest restaurant offerings on record. Same-store sales compounded 50% from 2020 to 2025. Visits at The Terrace are up 17% year over year.

1,419 SF · NYSE: JMKE · Founded 1956, Point Pleasant, New Jersey · ~3,300 locations, 53 in Utah

R&R BBQ

It began as a competition barbecue team. Nine grand championships later, it feeds the Delta Center.

R&R runs twelve restaurants across Utah and Idaho, a full catering kitchen, and the concession stands at the Delta Center and Rio Tinto Stadium. Mercato Partners owns the brand and Savory, an institutional restaurant platform, operates it — unusual professional depth behind a regional name. At 5,510 square feet it is one of the two largest restaurants at the center and the fourth-busiest tenant by visits.

5,510 SF · Founded 2013, Salt Lake City · 12 restaurants across Utah and Idaho · Nine grand championships

HOUSTON TX HOT CHICKEN

Twenty-seven locations in under five years — and it just crossed the Atlantic.

The brand opened its first store in Henderson, Nevada in August 2021 and has since reached nine states, announcing UK expansion in June 2026. It has drawn national coverage from Nation's Restaurant News, QSR, Business Insider and Eater. At The Terrace it sits in the newest construction on the site, completed in 2022 — a tenant that renews on expansion logic rather than inertia.

2,400 SF · Founded 2021, Henderson, Nevada · 27 locations across 9 states · 7 in Utah

TENANT PROFILES

ZAO MODERN ASIAN CAFE

Every Zao is company-operated — the brand runs all twenty-plus of them itself.

Zao serves Asian fusion bowls, tacos and banh mi wraps across Utah, Idaho and Colorado. Unlike almost every other food tenant at the center it does not franchise, which gives the brand direct control over execution in every store rather than handing it to a local operator. It is also one of the few tenants here growing traffic, with visits up 7% year over year.

2,959 SF · 20+ locations across Utah, Idaho and Colorado · Utah-grown concept

BEANS & BREWS COFFEE HOUSE

Thirty years in Utah — and the best hundred days in company history came this spring.

Known as the Home of High-Altitude Roasting, Beans & Brews is scaling out of Utah into Texas, Nevada, Colorado and Idaho, with a record twenty-five openings targeted for 2026 after eleven in 2025. At The Terrace it owns the morning. Coffee generates the earliest and most habitual trip a daily-needs center sees, and the store faces Traverse Parkway where that traffic is most visible.

1,700 SF · Founded 1993, Salt Lake City · Utah, Idaho, Colorado, Nevada and Texas · 25 openings targeted for 2026

CRUMBL

From 326 stores to more than 1,100 in four years — headquartered twenty minutes down I-15.

Crumbl built that growth on a rotating weekly menu and one of the largest social followings in the restaurant industry, and it still runs the company from Lindon, inside the same trade area. Its traffic peaks in the evenings and at weekends, precisely when the grocery and the service tenants are quietest — which stretches the hours the center is busy rather than crowding into them.

1,400 SF · Founded 2017, Logan, Utah · ~1,100 U.S. locations plus 25 in Canada · Headquartered in Lindon, Utah

THE ORIGINAL PANCAKE HOUSE

The busiest restaurant at The Terrace, and the top-performing location in Utah for the brand.

Serving its Dutch Baby and scratch batters since 1953, The Original Pancake House has expanded from Portland to roughly 146 locations — including Canada, Japan and South Korea — at a deliberately slow franchise pace. The Lehi restaurant draws nearly 139,000 visits a year, more than any tenant at the center other than the grocery anchor, and sits above the 70th percentile nationally for its brand.

4,200 SF · Founded 1953, Portland, Oregon · ~146 locations · U.S., Canada, Japan and South Korea

CAPRIOTTI'S SANDWICH SHOP

The highest-performing Capriotti's in Utah — out of 1,709 square feet.

Capriotti's has slow-roasted whole turkeys overnight and hand-pulled them each morning for fifty years, and its signature Bobbie has been voted the greatest sandwich in America. In its fiftieth year the brand opened twelve restaurants in six months and awarded development rights for thirty more, working toward 750 by 2032. The Terrace store ranks #1 in Utah on both sales and visits.

1,709 SF · Founded 1976, Wilmington, Delaware · 175+ locations across 33 states · Targeting 750 by 2032

TSUNAMI RESTAURANT & SUSHI BAR

The center's dinner hour — 120,000 visits a year, 85th percentile nationally.

Tsunami is a Utah-grown restaurant and sushi bar with four Wasatch Front locations, built on full-service dinner rather than the fast-casual format that dominates the rest of the center. At 5,280 square feet it is the second-largest restaurant at The Terrace, and it fills an evening daypart the grocery, service and quick-serve tenants never reach.

5,280 SF · Four Wasatch Front locations · Utah-grown concept

AREA OVERVIEW

AREA OVERVIEW

The Terrace at Traverse Mountain sits in the heart of Silicon Slopes, the technology corridor straddling Interstate 15 through Lehi in northern Utah County. Adobe, Ancestry, Microsoft, Oracle, Texas Instruments, Vivint, Entrata, Sunrun and Podium all operate within minutes, concentrated in Class A campuses such as Triumph Center and the surrounding Traverse Mountain business parks. Interstate 15 carries more than 200,000 vehicles per day past the corridor.

Traverse Mountain has become a true “Class A everything” district — office, retail, hospitality, healthcare, multifamily, and education layered within a single master-planned node. The immediate trade area includes Cabela’s, the Outlets at Traverse Mountain, and Megaplex Theatres; a growing hotel cluster; Holy Cross Hospital – Mountain Point; Thanksgiving Point; and thousands of rooftops in communities such as Terra Vista and Sanctuary.

The area’s retail already performs at the top of the state, with the Traverse Mountain trade area producing 48 statewide top-performing locations over the trailing twelve months. Momentum continues to build: the Collective at Morning Vista will bring a Whole Foods—anchored center to market, the Shops at Sky View add Target and Life Time Fitness, and the remaining parcels east of the subject are planned for office.

UTAH COUNTY GROWTH

As Utah County continues to grow, Lehi remains the center of gravity for the Silicon Slopes corridor. That growth is what fills a daily-needs center. Several factors make the Terrace’s trade area one of Utah’s most durable retail markets:

1. GROWTH
Utah County has added more residents than any other Utah county for six consecutive years, and Lehi is forecast to capture 55%+ of that growth by 2050.
2. PROVEN NATIONAL GROWTH
Provo–Orem–Lehi ranks as the 5th-fastest-growing metropolitan area in the United States by rate of growth, and Utah County ranks 30th of more than 3,000 U.S. counties by residents added. Closer to home, the county accounted for 36% of the state’s population growth in 2025.
3. SPENDING POWER
A young, highly educated workforce — median age 32.8, roughly 70% with college experience — supports above-average household incomes and consistent retail spending.
4. ECONOMIC DURABILITY
One of Utah’s most diversified local economies (94.8 Hachman Index), with employment well above pre-pandemic levels.
5. PROVEN RETAIL PERFORMANCE
The Traverse Mountain trade area produced 48 statewide top-performing locations over the trailing twelve months.
