UPTOWN / NORTH CAPITOL HILL

39.7433° N, 104.9811° W

Uptown (or North Capitol Hill) is an eclectic mix of brick rowhouses, dive bars and trendy cocktail lounges minutes from downtown. It's sandwiched between Park Avenue and Colfax Avenue and is the perfect place to start exploring eastern Denver.

Restaurant Row, the stretch of 17th Avenue running from Broadway to City Park, is lined with cafes, bistros, pubs, fine dining and LGBTQ-friendly bars – almost all with outdoor patios. It's also where you'll find Denver's largest green space, City Park, home to two of the city's most popular attractions – the Denver Zoo Conservation Alliance and the Denver Museum of Nature & Science.

Colfax Avenue, meanwhile, is the longest commercial street in the U.S.A. after first appearing on Denver maps in 1868 as a dirt road and then becoming a bustling trolley route in The Mile High City in the 1890s. Playboy Magazine once referred to Colfax as “the longest, wickedest street in America.”

Today, the street is lined with an eclectic mix of eateries, bars, brewpubs and shops, as well as entertainment and live music venues. The street's diversity is best seen by exploring on foot, starting at the State Capitol and heading east to Upper Colfax and East Colfax.

DENVER METRO COMMERCIAL MARKET OVERVIEW

Denver’s commercial real estate market in 2025 is showing signs of balance, with performance varying across office, retail, and industrial sectors.

- Industrial remains the strongest performer. After a surge of development between 2021 and 2023 drove vacancies higher, the market has now stabilized. With vacancy at 8.7%—one of the highest nationally but no longer rising—and only 5.1 million SF under construction (the lowest since 2017), the sector is positioned for gradual tightening. Tenant demand is strongest in the East I-70 corridor and for small-bay properties serving midsize distributors.
- Retail fundamentals remain healthy. Availability is low, new speculative development is limited, and consumer spending has held up thanks to wage growth outpacing inflation. Neighborhood and service-oriented retail centers are performing especially well, while most new projects are freestanding build-to-suits. This restrained pipeline has helped restore balance and support steady rent performance.
- Office conditions remain challenging, though the market is beginning to find footing. Vacancy is still elevated downtown, but leasing activity has picked up in select suburban and lifestyle-driven submarkets as companies prioritize quality space to attract employees back to the office. Rent reductions have moderated, and landlords are focusing on flexible lease structures and tenant improvements to capture demand.

Looking ahead, Denver’s commercial market is expected to continue stabilizing in 2025. Industrial and retail are well-positioned for steady performance, while office will remain a tenant-favored market but with incremental improvement. With construction activity subdued across all sectors due to higher interest rates and tighter lending conditions, opportunities are likely to emerge through owner-user sales, adaptive reuse projects, and targeted investment in high-demand corridors.

DENVER DEVELOPMENT

In Downtown Denver, recent completed or currently under construction development projects include the 16th Street Mall reconstruction, the Larimer Bridge replacement with streetscaping improvements, the Downtown Rail Reconstruction Project focusing on key intersections, and various bicycle connection projects like the 15th Street Bicycle Connection and Bannock Street Bikeway. Future projects to expand the downtown area include a 55-acre mixed use development plan using the parking lots around Ball Arena, a 62-acre master-planned mixed-use community known as the River Mile, and other developments including more than 1,000 hotel rooms, 5,000 residential units, 2.5 million square feet of office space, and a large condominium development.

16th Street Mall Project: A major ongoing project to revitalize the 16th Street Mall with improved infrastructure and pedestrian experience.

Downtown Rail Reconstruction: RTD's project to reconstruct light rail tracks and infrastructure at key downtown intersections, with phase one recently finished.

KSE-Ball Arena Redevelopment: The 55-acre KSE-Ball Arena project proposes between 10 to 12 million square feet of mixed-use, office, retail, and residential space. The project will replace existing land currently used as parking lots and will better connect Ball Arena to Lower Downtown Denver, Auraria Campus, and the future River Mile development.

The River Mile: A new, urban mixed-use neighborhood to be built along a one-mile stretch of the South Platte River between Speer Blvd and Auraria Pkwy. Adjacent to two transit stations and the birthplace of the city, the plan calls for a bike and pedestrian-oriented public realm, new waterfront parks and public spaces, and the continued restoration of the South Platte River.

Downtown Development Authority (DDA) Expansion: The DDA will be expanded to include the Central Business District, Union Station, and part of North Capitol Hill. The expansion is expected to make over $500 million available for investment in 2025. The DDA will use public investments to create a thriving downtown and accelerate economic growth.
