THE SUBMARKET

WHY MEDLEY

The Town of Medley is one of South Florida’s most concentrated industrial enclaves — a municipality built almost entirely for business, with a small residential population and hundreds of warehousing, distribution, manufacturing, and trade operations packed inside its limits.

Its appeal is position. Medley sits at the center of the region’s freight network, wrapped by the Palmetto Expressway (SR-826), Okeechobee Road (US-27), and the Florida Turnpike, and minutes from Miami International Airport and PortMiami. That combination of M-1 light-industrial zoning and highway, air, and seaport access is exactly why occupiers cluster here — goods move in and out fast, and a central Medley address reaches all of Miami-Dade within a short drive.
